AMERICAN TROOP SHIP TORPEDOED

Destroyers Immediately Swarm About Stricken Ship and Rescue Men Who Descend From Decks on Rope Ladders.

(By Associated Press Cable)

London, Tuesday, September 10.—A troop ship with 2800 American soldiers aboard has been torpedoed, but all hands are thought to have been saved. The troop ship was beached.

ALL ARE SAVED

(By Associated Press Cable)

London, September 10.—It has now been definitely ascertained all hands were saved. In order to save time instead of launching the boats the men climbed down ropes to the destroyers which swarmed around the stricken vessel. This operation was greatly facilitated by the fact that the sea was not rough.

The troop ship was a member of a large convoy approaching the English coast. The vessel was torpedoed 200 miles from shore at three o'clock last Friday afternoon. The transfer of the American soldiers to escorting British and American torpedo boat destroyers was quickly made. They all escaped injury when the torpedo exploded and were soon on the way to a British port.

There was no sign of panic on board and the admirable behavior was especially gratifying to the officers. Many of the troops were from Chicago and Cleveland and a large percentage were factory hands of foreign extraction. Their behavior proved that they had assimilated the true spirit of the American soldier.

compelled her to lag behind the rest of the convoy, but the trouble had been fixed up and she was rapidly catching up with the other transports when the torpedo hit her just forward of the engine room.

She began to sink at once by the bow. Many soldiers were taking baths and did not wait to dress, but made toward the deck at once.

The water was rushing in at such a rate that it was thought the ship would quickly founder. To the surprise of the soldiers the ship did not sink.

Some means, apparently was found to check the inrush of water and she got near enough to the shore to be beached. It is hoped the vessel can be saved.

Washington, September 11.—A dispatch from the American legation at Christiana today said reliable information had reached there that Petrograd is burning in twelve different places and there was indiscriminate massacre of people in the streets.

Secretary Lansing said it did not indicate whether the massacre was organized or merely was a result of a general state of anarchy.

There was nothing to show what part the Bolsheviki authorities were playing in the situation.

GASOLINE SHORTAGE IS NEAR AT HAND SAYS DR. GARFIELD

Washington, September 11.—Fuel Administrator Garfield informed the Senate today in response to the Lodge resolution inquiry that unless conservation steps are taken immediately there will be a deficit of approximately 1,000,000 barrels of gasoline at the end of this year. At the rate of consumption in August he estimated there was one month's supply ahead.

In The Lys Sector Armentieres Is Almost Within Grasp of the Advancing Allied Armies. French Make Notable Progress in Advance on LaFere and St. Gobain Bastion. British Wedge Pushed Closer to Douai, Which is Reported to be Burning.

(By The War Editor of The Associated Press)

The British were again moving forward today toward the Hindenburg line in the one sector where they are still some distance from it near the center of the allied front.

Some progress was made during the night in the Vermand region where Field Marshal Haig's forces are closing in upon St. Quentin from the north, while the French are pushing up from the south.

Further north the British were reported today to have gained a foothold in the twin towns of Peziere and Epehy, 2 1/2 miles from the Hindenburg line opposite Le Catelet. The Germans are resisting strongly here as this section of the line forms part of the defenses of Cambrai on the south. Their resistance in this sector also is taking the form of strong counter attacks at Grouzeaucourt just to the north. They gained a lone British point in hard fighting here last night, but otherwise were completely repulsed.

The defense of Cambrai is likewise being carried to the aggressive side by the Germans along the canal Du Nord, where the British stand far inside the Hindenburg line after having broken the Quant-Drocourt switch.

In this aggressive movement the enemy last night sharply counter attacked near Moeuvres, just to the east of Quant, and at Ecourt-St. Quentin north of the Arras-Cambrai road. In both cases the British held their ground, repulsing the Germans in stiff engagements.

FRENCH ADVANCE TOWARD LA FERRE

The French drive in upon LaFere, the northerly defense of the St. Gobain bastion, is reported today to have made notable progress with the capture of the town of Travecy, on the Hindenburg line, 2 miles directly north of LaFere. The holding of this ground would result in the outflanking of LaFere on the northerly side.

GERMANS LAUNCH ATTACKS

The Germans also have been attacking desperately on the French front where the line runs north from the Aisne toward the St. Gobain massif. They are attempting to drive the Franco-American forces there off the Mont Rouge plateau, the allied occupation of which is threatening the flank of the line far to the east. All their efforts have been fruitless.

In the Lys sector Armentieres is almost within grasp of the British who are advancing upon the town from both the north and west. Armentieres is used by the Germans as a supply center and next to Douai, to the south, it is the most important point in the enemy's northern system of military roads of communication. The British are slowly driving a wedge in the direction of Douai, which is reported to be burning.

MOTHER IS KILLED BY CHILD WITH REVOLVER

Shocking Tragedy Enacted on Second Street, Late Tuesday Evening, When Dwight Newland, Aged Eight Years, Accidentally Sends Bullet Crashing into Breast of His Mother, Mrs. Lou Newland.

Old Pistol Had Been Left in the Kitchen Table Where the Boy Obtained It—Dead Woman Leaves Five Small Children.

A deadly weapon left within reach of children resulted in another tragedy, Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Lou Newland, aged 35 years, residing on Second street just off of Sycamore street, was almost instantly killed by a bullet from a 32-calibre revolver in the hands of her eight-year old son, Dwight, who is said to have playfully pointed the gun at his mother.

Mrs. Newland was returning from a nearby grocery and carried an armload of groceries. She was in the act of entering the door of her little home when her son pointed a revolver at her, saying something as he did so. The crash of the exploding gun followed and Mrs. Newland fell unconscious with a ball through her breast, and within a few minutes expired where she fell.

The lad, thoroughly frightened at what had taken place, screamed for help and neighbors rushed in, only to find blood pouring from the wound in the woman's breast, and from her mouth, and the spark of life fast fading. She died before a physician could reach the scene.

The ball, of 32 calibre, struck Mrs. Newland just in front, and slightly underneath the left arm, ranging upward until it had severed the jugular vein and vital arteries, stopping near her throat.

The body was removed to A. R. McCoy's undertaking establishment and prepared for burial.

Mrs. Newland, who was a daughter of Newton Stokesburg, leaves a husband and five small children, the youngest of whom is little more than one year of age, making her untimely death a doubly sad one.

UNFURL THE FLAG ALL DAY THURSDAY

Tomorrow, Thursday, is registration day, and Provost Marshal General urges that every flag be unfurled during the day in honor of the great number of men who will register for military service.

Every Washington and Fayette county citizen is urged to display the flag.

HOW THE COUNTY BUDGET FOR 1918 WAS MADE UP

The Fayette County Budget Commission has concluded its work for the present year—1918. That means that the estimates of the amount of money required by each taxing district in the county for the purpose of conducting the public business of that community, have been determined and the machinery to produce the estimated necessary sum set in motion.

A great many people, although this is a time of budget commissions and budgets in all public affairs, have a rather confused idea of just what a budget commission is.

We have, now days, our national budget prepared by the treasury officials. That means that after consultation with the several department heads and proper certification of the amounts required to run the national business for the next year the treasury officials have, by calculation, determined the taxing powers and made up the entire cost bill—that's the budget.

In the state we have the same proceedings, and in counties and cities the same.

The county auditor, the county treasurer and the prosecuting attorney constitute the County Budget Commissioners. As such it is their duty to receive from the tax disbursing officials of the various townships, school districts and municipalities the certification of the amount needed for public expenses during the next year.

Then after adding to that sum the proportion of the state and county levies for that district the commissioners should take into account and deduct any unexpended balances remaining from the last year's appropriations, determine the rate of taxation necessary to produce the required sum and if that rate does not exceed the limit provided by law establish that rate and levy it on the taxable property of the district.

This year County Auditor Glenn M. Pine, County Treasurer A. W. Duff, and Prosecuting Attorney H. M. Rankin, Fayette county's Budget Commissioners, met on the first Monday in August and considered the several estimates of necessary expenditures filed by the disbursing officials throughout the county, approved the estimates and made up the budget.

While the budget commissioners are vested with authority under the law to scan the details of the estimated expenditures and reduce the whole sum certified in their judgment it is proper to do so, they have this year accepted, as made, the estimates of the local disbursing officials, as to the amount required and made up the budget from the estimates, all sums falling within the rate limit.

In adopting that course the budget commissioners have been guided by the very warranted presumption that the local township, municipality and school district officials are in direct touch with the requirements of their locality and are in a better position to judge of what is necessary than any other officials.

There is another element, too, which has led to that conclusion this year, and that is the constant shifting in the sum of the necessary expenses. In the reorganization of the schools, employment of teachers, transportation of children etc., making it more difficult this year than ever before to estimate with the usual degree of exactness just what expenditures will be necessary.

All things considered the budget commissioners allowed the certification of the township, municipality and school district tax disbursing officials to stand, declining to exercise any autocratic power to arbitrarily reduce the estimates except where the tax limitation made it necessary to do so.

There are very few folks who are not interested in tax assessing and public expenditures. That catches all of us alike in proportion, of course, and it is well enough to know just how the rate is fixed and the amounts determined.

Another No Gasoline Sunday

There was much less riding in automobiles last Sunday than there was on the first Sunday on which Dr. Garfield's request for a cessation of pleasure riding became effective.

Another and more pronounced tribute to the loyalty of the American people.

It is safe to state that there are hundreds of thousands of people throughout America who do not concede the wisdom of Dr. Garfield's request but they comply whole heartedly and cheerfully nevertheless.

The fuel administrator seems prone to make startling and unusual requests to meet conditions. Requests which are not explained at the time they are made nor after they have been complied with.

Doubtless the fuel administrator and his advisors and superiors have considered, in each instance, all the facts and circumstances and have only issued these startling requests because they are the best to attain the desired end.

That's the presumption which has caused uncomplaining compliance.

A little explanation though would help out amazingly because the majority of the people are satisfied much better plans could be adopted.

We Must All Cooperate

The work of classifying the men who will register tomorrow under the newly enacted man-power bill will not only cast a tremendous labor upon the local draft boards throughout the country and upon the war department, but it will require the utmost exactness in order that the full army strength be obtained from among the registrants with the least possible disturbance of vital industrial conditions.

The work of classifying the registrants who will be enrolled next Thursday will be more difficult than the same work was under the first selective draft law because more men will be included and the wider range in age limitations will involve many more industrial occupations than the former law.

One of the wisest provisions in both of these remarkably satisfactory laws, considering all the tremendous circumstances involved, is that one which lodges with the civilian population the execution of the whole law. In order that full justice be done under the law every loyal citizen, whether within or without its operation, whether any member of his immediate family is affected or not, should in every possible way assist the local officials in the discharge of their work. It is the duty of every one to see that the work is correctly done and promptly done.

Once before we have directed attention to the very great need for exercising the utmost care in making statements, either orally or by affidavit, to the officials intended to influence their action. Not only is it unpatriotic to make reckless or false statements to the officials but, under the very strict rules which must prevail, it will be an exceedingly dangerous thing to do.

We are all interested in increasing the fighting force and in attaining that result with as little disarrangement of essential vocations as possible. Therefore, we must all co-operate—officials, citizens and registrants—in the work. That's the basis of the law and we can't, any of us, afford to go either intentionally or recklessly wrong in so vital a matter.

Base Ball's Future

The great world's championship base ball series of 1918 has been, from the standpoint of the "fans," perhaps the best series of games ever played for the premier honors of base ball.

The games, every one of them, have been well played from start to finish. The pitching and fielding have been of the highest type. The final score, in each game, has been so close as to furnish conclusive proof of the high class of the contending teams. It has shown too, although the Boston Americans have won three out of the five games played (and possibly four out of seven and the championship 'ere this is read) that the teams are evenly matched.

Viewed from the financial end the games have been a failure. The attendance has been so far below the usual world series games attendance and there has been so little interest manifested throughout the nation in the games, compared with other years, that not a few people have become fearful that America's great national game is finally passing as the nation's favorite pastime.

We have no such fears. Base ball, like every other human activity in America this year, has given way to the demands of war. We must remember that nearly, if not quite two million real base ball fans are now overseas fighting the Huns, and that several hundred thousand more are in the cantonment camps; that the mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts of those two million boys over there are thinking of them to the exclusion of every thing else.

Poetry For Today

MY DREAM

I slept! I dreamed that the war was won—
That righteous Peace blessed Christendom,
And all the matin bells of earth
Chimed forth in clear, melodious mirth!

The winds from far—each trembling — breeze—
Brought wave on wave of harmonies,
And every breaker on the shore
Beat rhythmically, "War no more!"
While all the stars together sang,
As through the world the message rang.

The Gates of Paradise stood wide,
Where angel hosts, war-multiplied,
Chanted from dawn to setting sun:
"The Kingdom of the Lord has come!"

A voice! A voice
Broke on my ear,
So low at first
I scarce could hear.
Persistently,
It thrilled me through:

"This wondrous joy
Is not for you.
My cup of woe you drank it not—
Partook not of my pain.
Those only who have sown in tears
Shall reap in joy again!"

I cried aloud—awoke! I knew
"Lord what wilt Thou have me to do?"

Sox Early Attain Lead in Fast Played Game.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Boston, Mass., September 11.—The Boston Red Sox and Chicago Cubs hooked up again today in the sixth game of the world series before several thousand spectators who shivered and shook in a cold blast that reached every corner of the field and stand. Murmurs of another strike faded out during the morning when the club owners held a conference, for later it was given out that the game would be played and reports had it the owners had met the situation.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Fenway Park, Boston, September 11.—The Boston Red Sox are the non-essential world series champions of 1918.

They defeated the Chicago Cubs by a score of 2 to 1 today in a hotly fought game which was replete with excellent fielding plays.

Flack's error in the third erased the National League champions from the world series picture, the last to be shown on the baseball screen until the great war is over.

Mays' underhand delivery held the Cubs helpless throughout. Thomas and Whiteman made bright fielding plays.

The letter, with its phraseology which is characteristic of the French is given in full below.

"Ancenis, the ten of August, 1918. Madam, Mister:

"I beg you to excuse me for the permission that I take to write you.

"I have had the happiness to talk a long time with your son. I have promised to him to write to you. I am very happy to be agreeable to him. He was with his friends and was in good health.

"Your son has talked to us of his family, of America and France. We were thinking also very much of you, Madam, Mister, and the time has seemed brief.

"Your son is a very kind and a very young man. I will bear to him the best memory. I was very happy to talk with an American and a brave soldier at once. Soon, I will be also a soldier, being eighteen years old.

"Excuse me for the numerous mistakes that I have made. I have learned English at the school, but it is difficult to write correctly this language. I should be very happy to know if you have received my letter.

"I remain, Madam, Mister, with the highest regard,

A French young man.

RED CROSS ACTIVITIES

How One Family Was Found

The arresting signal of a Columbus traffic officer stopped Miss Mary Bush, member of the Columbus chapter Motor Corps. Miss Bush and another young woman were hurrying in a chapter automobile on some Red Cross errand.

As the car was brought to a stop before the "traffic cop" visions of arrest and fine for violation of some unknown traffic rule rose in the minds of Miss Bush and her companion.

"You Red Cross women look after soldiers' families, don't you?" questioned the officer.

"Certainly, the Red Cross looks after the families of soldiers and of sailors, too," replied Miss Bush, who seemed relieved at the nature of the question.

"There's a Home Service section for that very thing, and as it happens," she continued, "one of the workers in that section is right here in the car with me. Can we be of service?"

Then followed the tale of distress in the home of a soldier whose family lived in a nearby street.

"Couldn't you get in the car with us and direct us to that boy's family right away?"

Miss Bush asked the question and proceeded to "make room" for the officer as she heard his reply.

"Even the 'traffic cops' seem to know about the work we are doing for the relief of soldiers' families," said the Red Cross Home Service worker.

Makes Red Cross Dressings

Standard in French Hospitals

A cablegram has been received from Harvey D. Gibson, Red Cross Commissioner to France, advising that the French War Department has officially adopted for the use in all French hospitals American Red Cross standard surgical dressings. The text of the cable is as follows: "French War Department has just officially adopted for use at all French hospitals, American Red Cross surgical dressings. Unless further advised by us, discontinue making French style dressings and ship only until supply in process manufacture and transit is exhausted."

In a second cable Mr. Gibson states further that the decision to use American Red Cross standard dressings will improve the distribution service to French hospitals, because previous to the adoption of our standard dressings there were only a comparatively small number of French style dressings available for distribution. Under the present arrangement the entire output of American Red Cross chapters can be utilized for both French and American hospitals.

Acting under the instruction to discontinue making French style dressings, all dressings completed or now being manufactured or in transit, which are made on the special stand-

Fall Opening

Truly a Remarkable Fashion Pageant, Arranged in Spite of Most Disheartening Difficulties, But a Pleasurable Occasion Full of Delightful Surprises and Assured Fall Fashion Facts.

Commencing Tomorrow and Continuing Until Saturday

At last the style conceptions from the most brilliant fashion brains in the world are ready to greet you! France and America, allies in style creation as well as war, have combined to produce these Fall garments and accessories, with the easily foretold results—fashions of surpassing beauty. If the war has influenced the trend of styles toward simplicity, the skill of the creators have made capital of this by making this simplicity more smart and chic than ever!

In bringing together such a comprehensive assortment of Fall apparel and accessories, we modestly claim a little more credit than usual. For, as you know, the labor situation is serious, there is a shortage of woollens, dyestuffs are none too plentiful and there is a genuine scarcity of good apparel. But large assortments are here for your inspection and gratification. We've accomplished our avowed purpose of obtaining the largest amount of the best Fall merchandise the markets could afford.

May we tell you of wholesale prices—briefly? They are going up almost daily and are considerably higher now than when we contracted for the great majority of our Autumn stocks. You will benefit by our foresightedness in buying early.

And So We Cordially Invite You To Our Fall Opening, Which In Many Respects Is The Most Remarkable Event Of Its Nature This Store Has Ever Requested You To Attend! Tomorrow Is Opening Day.

Delightfully Plain are the New Suits

In these new suits, the straight line silhouette has reached its highest point of development. Coats are about three-quarter length. Skirts are somewhat narrower and longer than last season. Many have no-trimmings—others have fur adornments. Oxford cloths, evora, duvet du laine, duvyteen and velour are the favored fabrics. You're bound to like these new suits.

Prices range from $19.75 to $85.00

Fancy Frills Are Absent From the New Coats

Simple straight lines characterize these beautiful coats of velour, bolivia, suede-finished cloths, velvets, plush, silk velour and other pile fabrics. Knee to shoe-top lengths, slightly flared skirts, large collars, fur trimmings, big pockets, buttons and belts are features. You'll find that one of these new coats is a delightful necessity.

Prices range from $12.50 to $125.00.

What Smartness There Is In the New Skirts!

Models for every occasion, developed in many ways but all attain one object—smartness. The new silhouette is followed faithfully, with trimming features in the form of pockets, overskirts, sashes, pannels and tunics. These new skirts are made of satin, taffeta, poplin, twill, tricotine, velvet, wool jersey and serge. Our displays make inspection unusually easy for you.

Prices range from $5.00 to $18.50.

The New Dresses Strongly Favor Simple Lines

And they are strikingly graceful with a leaning toward youthfulness, particularly in neck designs and bell shaped sleeves. Jersey, velour, gabardine, georgette, crepe de Chine, tricollette and taffeta are the approved fabrics. Pleats, drapes, gathers, sashes, embroidery, beads, braid and buttons give handsome trimming effects. It will be a distinct pleasure to see these garments.

Prices range from $12.50 to $65.00

The New Fall Waists are Rather Plain but Very Colorful

The approved trimmings are beads and embroidery but these are not used lavishly. Color is the feature that makes these models striking. Navy, taupe, and ecru are favorites. Fabrics are China silk, voile, taffeta, georgette and heavy crepe de Chine. Round and V-necks, roll and Buster Brown collars, big sleeves and novel cuffs give a pleasing variety of effects. You'll want immediate possession of several of these waists now on display.

Prices range from $3.95 to $18.00.

Distinctiveness Characterizes these New Dress Goods and Silks

Exclusiveness and originality of design, and the rich effects produced by color blending, have combined to produce fabrics of extraordinary charm. The poplins, crepe de Chine, georgettes, serges, velours, etc., now on display will forcibly demonstrate this fact. Many women will make more apparel this year than ever before—you'll probably like to.

Prices range from $1.00 to $6.00

Furs Have Never Been So Popular

Three classes are featured—the all enveloping garments such as long coats and large caps; the short coats and coatlets effects; and stoles, collars and animal scarfs. Short coats and vestees generally have small collars. Large coats and capes generally show deep yoke and large collar effects. The favored furs are Hudson Seal, mole, squirrel, nutria, muskrat and mink, with Fox leading for scarfs and stoles. Fur garments are usually trimmed with contrasting fur. Furs will be necessary to every fashionable woman.

Prices range from $5.00 to $200.00

The Fall Millinery Offers A Splendid Variety of Shapes

The general tendency is toward broad low lines, which makes possible many models of beauty and character. Crowns are mostly low and soft; brims are irregular in width. Velvet, poplin, faille, soft taffeta, angora and chenille are the principal fabrics. Wings, ribbon bows and ostrich effects are the best developed trimmings. You'll be delighted to find that nearly every model will prove becoming to you.

Prices range from $3.95 to $22.50

Fall Hosiery and Underwear in Extraordinary Assortments

Fortunate indeed, are we to have such a quantity of these staples! We would advise, as a precautionary measure for economy's sake, that you purchase, at once, a full season's supply.

BIG VAUGHN BESTS SOX

(American Press)

Boston, Sept. 11.—Big Jim Vaughn, left-handed pitcher of the Chicago Nationals, kept the Boston Americans out of the world's championship by winning the fifth game of the series, after the contest had been delayed for an hour by an unprecedented strike of the players of both teams for a readjustment of their share of the proceeds.

When it seemed as if the players and the representatives of the na- tional commission were hopelessly deadlocked and the curtailed baseball year would fizzle out in a strike, Harry Hooper, the Red Sox captain, called the turn. "We will play," he said, acting as spokesman for both teams, "not because we think we are getting a fair deal, because we are not."

Vaughn's pitching was the feature of the contest. It was his third effort in the series. Sam Jones, right hander, was hit rather freely by the Cubs. In the third they scored on Hollocher's pass, a steal and Mann's double to left. The Cubs secured two runs in the eighth. A pass to Plack opened this fateful inning. Hollocher laid down a slow roller and beat the ball to first, his third hit of the game. Mann flew out to Shean, bringing up Paskert. The veteran picked a fast one waist high and smashed it to the score board for a double. Boston threatened to score in several in-nings, but sharp fielding kept the red legs from reaching the plate.

LT. LEWIS D. SAXTON ONLY LIVING OFFICER OF HIS COMPANY

General Pershing's praise of the 2nd Division during the ordeal of modern warfare, taken from the Paris edition of the "New York Her-ald," will be of added interest fol- lowing a letter from Lt. Lewis D. Saxton, who was with this division during the second Battle of the Marne, the 18th and 19th of July.

Lt. Saxton, of Co. K, the 23rd Regi- ment, Second Division, who went out in command of his company, was its only surviving officer after eighteen days of fighting.

He had been forty-eight hours without food, with machine gun, bul- lets whizzing all around, but so ter- rific was the fighting that no other thought but the battle was enter- tained.

The generals use the divisions as men move their men on the chess board.

It was after the magnificent work of the First and Second Divisions that General Pershing issued the fol- lowing general order:

The Commander-in-Chief desires to record in the General Orders of the American Expeditionary Forces his appreciation of the splendid courage, service and sacrifice of the officers and men of the First and Second Di- visions of these Forces during the recent operations in which these di- visions participated and in which the enemy was checked by the resolute defense and counter-offense of the Allied armies.

These Divisions submitting fully for the first time to all drastic tests of modern warfare, bore themselves always with fine valor; their co-op- eration with their brothers in arms of the unified command was prompt and efficient and brought from their allied comrades many expressions of sincere appreciation.

The conduct of these brave men and that of their fallen comrades who made the supreme sacrifice has established a standard of service and prestige which every division of the A. E. F. will strive to emulate and preserve.

This order will be read to all orga- nizations at the first assembly forma- tion after its receipt.

By command of General Pershing.

Lt. Saxton was in Paris the fourth of July when these divisions made such splendid showing in the parade and was transferred to the Second Division the following day. He has only one regret in belonging to this crack division—that he so seldom sees a boy from home.

LAY LAST STONE OF ATTRACTIVE FRONT

The cut stone front of the building of the Peoples & Drovers Bank, which is being thoroughly remodeled and modernized by Hoggson Bro- thers, of New York has been topped out and looks like a chrysalis emerg- ing from a dusty cocoon. From what is now exposed to the public view there is every indication that the new building will bear out all claims made for it.

The exterior is being executed in rusticated Indiana limestone with a granite base and has the appearance of perpetual endurance. Hoggson Brothers are constructing an appro- priate banking room for the strong and enterprising organization which will occupy it.

B. Dawber, superintendent of con- struction, says the exterior will soon be sufficient advanced to tear down the over head bridge, and then citi- zens will be in position to judge for themselves as to the newest addi- tion to the civic side of the develop- ment of the city.

DIVORCE GRANTED IN COMMON PLEAS

In the case of Florence Rogers against Wm. M. Rogers, wherein the plaintiff sought divorce on the grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, Judge Carpenter awarded the plaintiff a divorce and restored her to her maiden name of Florence Pearl Underwood.

ALL READY TO REGISTER

(American Press)

Columbus, Sept. 11.—It is expected that 730,000 Ohioans will register to- morrow. Major W. S. Pealer of state draft headquarters said the registra- tion machinery, embracing nearly 20,000 registrars for the 5,800 election precincts in the state, is ready to the last detail.

The number of new registrants is estimated at 739,000, more than the aggregate of the registrations of June, 1917, and June and August last, namely, 610,000.

Those who reach their eighteenth birthday tomorrow are the youngest ones to register. The oldest ones are those whose forty-sixth birthday comes the day after registration day. In other words, everybody who to- morrow is 18 but not yet 46 must enroll.

Registration everywhere will take place in local precinct polling places. The only instance of registrars going to the registrants is in 11 coal mining counties, where registration places will be established at the mines. This is to prevent the loss of production of 2,500 or 3,000 car loads of coal, which, it is estimated, would result if miners were required to go to polling places. Polls open at 7 a. m. and close at 9 p. m.

BURIAL SERVICES OF MRS. MILDRED J. OGLE

All that was mortal of Mrs. Mildred J. Ogle, mother of Mrs. Dayton Mer- shon, was brought from the Mershon home in Columbus to the earlier home in this city Tuesday and laid to rest in the Washington cemetery.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Houston in Columbus at ten o'clock in the morning and immedi- ately following the funeral cortege for- med, reaching this city early in the af- ternoon.

A number of the old friends gath- ered with the relatives at the cem- etery, where Rev. Arthur P. Cherring- ton held a simple burial service.

Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Mershon, Mrs. Crouse, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wolff and little daughter Betty Louise, of Cleveland; and Mrs. Wolf of Mansfield accompanied the body from Columbus.

It seemed specially sad that several grandchildren who had been particularly close to their grandmother are now in military service and were unable to attend the funeral.
